

THE REGION
OF CAMPANIA

THE REGION OF CAMPANIA

Campania is a region in southwestern Italy known for its ancient ruins and spectacular coastline. Naples, the capital of Campania, is a vibrant city surrounded by stunning natural beauty, with the famous gray, cone-shaped Mount Vesuvius and the deep blue waters of the Gulf of Naples. To the south, along the Amalfi Coast, lie pastel-colored towns like Positano, Amalfi, and Ravello, nestled between the rocks and the sea.

AMALFITANA COAST

POMPEY

PIZZA NAPOLETANA

MOZZARELLA OF FUBALLA

ELEONORA FIMENTEL MONSECA

Eleonora Pimentel Fonseca (1752-1799) was a fundamental intellectual, poet and journalist, heroine of the Neapolitan Republic of 1799. Founder of the Neapolitan newspaper Monitore, she supported the Enlightenment democratic ideals, paying with her life for her political passion, being hanged by the Bourbons on 20 August 1799.